

April 4th is Sexual Assault Prevention Month Day of Action

Help us end the stigma _____

Since 2004, the National Sexual Violence Resource Center has marked the first Tuesday of April as SAAPM Day of Action: a day focused on utilizing coordinated, intentional actions to show support for survivors of sexual violence.

Someone in your life is likely a survivor of sexual violence, even if they have never shared their story. Show support for survivors/victims by wearing teal on April 4th! Wearing teal signals that you support survivors/victims and are a safe person to reach out to for help.

Stay tuned throughout the month of April for a variety of Sexual Assault Prevention Month events by Dare to Care, each dedicated to supporting survivors, having dialogues about how sexual violence affects all in our community and how to prevent it.